Allocation funds use an investment strategy that allows fund management to invest fund assets among different asset classes from time to time in such proportion (as Fund management determines) in order to take advantage of its evaluation of changes in economic and market trends. Call 1-844-540-0164 for the current asset mix.

The categorization of a fund or other investment option represents the principal asset class in which the investment option invests, which may be subject to change in accordance with its investment policy.

Investing in any fund involves risk. To review the risks of a fund, click on the fund name above.

Investors should consider the investment objectives, risks, charges and expenses of investment options carefully before investing. This, and additional information about the investment options, can be found in the prospectuses and, if available, the summary prospectuses, which can be obtained by clicking on any fund listed above and then clicking the Prospectus/Fund Literature link. Investors should read the prospectuses and, if available, the summary prospectuses carefully before investing.

For more information on the investment options that are not mutual funds (non-registered investments), refer to the fund description or fact sheet, if available.

For certain investment options, the returns reflect subsidies and waivers, without which the results would have been lower than noted. These subsidies and waivers may not continue to remain in effect. Please consult the prospectus for more information.

For funds with less than one year of fund performance: Please note that there are limitations when viewing short-term performance results and this performance may not be achieved over longer time periods.
